

Black Cloak

When the beloved prince of Kiros is found dead, the last city of the known world is threatened to descend into chaos. Two black cloaks are tasked with finding out what happened to the prince, and it turns out it's more complicated than they first assumed.

Nettle & Bone

Marra has watched her sister be mistreated by an evil prince for years, and no one is going to rescue her. Marra is slowly realizing that she has to do this herself, and with the help of a gravewitch, a reluctant fairy godmother, a former knight and a chicken possessed by a demon, she might be able to do just that.

The Long Way to a Small, Angry Planet

Rosemary Harper joins the Wayfarer spaceship to escape her troubled past. Here she meets the colourful and charming crew - and it turns out she might not be the only one with secrets... Spaceships, multiple species, AI, strange planets - this book has it all! Great, distinctive characters and intriguing world building. Sci-fi action-feelgood that packs an emotional punch.

The Colour of Magic

The first book in Terry Pratchett's Discworld, a planet-sized flat disc carried through space on the backs of four gargantuan elephants. This story is set in Ankh-Morpok, the biggest city of Discworld, and we follow an incompetent and cynical wizard named Rincewind, who is hired to guide a naive insurance clerk from the Agatean Empire.

Saga

How about an epic space opera with a touch of Romeo and Juliet? Alana and Marko are soldiers on opposite sides of a galactic war - secretly married, and parents to Hazel. How will they survive, and keep their family together and safe? A vast and brilliantly illustrated universe that expands wonderfully for every new volume. Dark, action-packed, fun, violent, engrossing.

A Memory Called Empire

Mahit Dzmare is elected as the new ambassador to the Teixcalaan empire's capital. When she arrives, it turns out her predecessor has actually been killed. Political turmoil and dangerous plots are afoot, and Mahit must use all her wit and cunning to avoid becoming the next victim in the eternal war for power. Hugo award-winner for best sci-fi novel in 2020.

The Adventures of Amina al-Sirafi

Amina al-Sirafi is offered a job no bandit could refuse. She gathers her old crew for one final adventure that will secure her and her family's future forever, but the stakes are a lot higher than what Amina first assumed.

Assassin's Apprentice

A thrilling introduction to a fantasy epic like no other. First of the Farseer trilogy it introduces us to Fitz, a bastard born to the noble crown-prince Chivalry. Fitz is taken in by his father's stablehand and raised in the shadows of the royal court, navigating political intrigue and raids from the Outislands while trying to keep his own secrets close to his chest. A great introduction to the Realm Of The Elderlings series.
